Gerda de Vries is a Professor in the Department of Mathematical and Statistical Sciences at University of Alberta. Her area of research is mathematical biology. The main objective of her research program is to understand and explain physiological processes through the development and analysis of mathematical models.